Method of Instruction and Rebuilding Appeals to Players.

Manager Harry Davis of the Cleveland Naps has a style of instructing his players which appeals to his men strongly. He does not use any rough talk in advising or reouking the players, but instead he appeals to the men's finer side so successfully that they all like him. In talking matters over with his players, even when rebuking, he does it in such a caim, dispassionate though convincing manner the player takes it more to heart than if browbeaten. In a recent secret session Manager Davis hald down the rules and regulations in such a way that it caused all of the players to swear that a new era in managers had been in-MONEY.
